MANAGEMENT OVERVIEW

With the "second wave" of the COVID-19 pandemic hitting us towards the end of the summer months, and a near-term panacea appearing less and less likely, we have continued to balance the surety of the REIT's portfolio against the pursuit of acquisitions.

During this quarter, we have spent considerable time evaluating the stability of the REIT's portfolio under a range of scenarios that include a prolonged period of COVID-19-induced uncertainty. Even with highly pessimistic assumptions regarding occupancy, collections, and operating costs, we are confident that our in-place leases and our robust capitalization will allow us to weather the storm unscathed. In fact, the September move-in results at our properties were particularly encouraging when compared to some of the scenarios we envisioned. Despite the uncertainty around university operations, the overwhelming majority of students showed up, are occupying their units, are excited to partake in the university experience, and are paying rent on time.

As at September 30, 2020, the REIT's portfolio was 84% leased for the 2020-2021 academic year (90% leased for the REIT's privately managed portfolio and 52% leased for the REIT's publicly managed portfolio) with a 2.3% rental rate increase over the prior year, and our YTD collection rate continues to be over 95%.

The impact of COVID-19 on our occupancy has resulted in a 1.2% decline in FMV per REIT Unit relative to the prior quarter. While we are disappointed with this outcome, we are pleased with the overall stability and resiliency demonstrated by the asset class, and we remain bullish on the long-term opportunity to deliver capital appreciation to our Unitholders.

With the Government of Canada's announcement that, beginning on October 20, 2020, international students will be able to enter the country as long as their learning institution has an approved COVID-19 readiness plan, we are cautiously optimistic that our occupancy figures will continue to improve in the coming quarters and believe that this will greatly assist us in the 2020/2021 lease-up cycle.

With respect to acquisitions, the REIT closed its purchase of 1Ten on Whyte in Edmonton this quarter. As mentioned previously, we are excited to formally mark the REITs entrance into the Western Canadian market and to establish the REIT as a truly national player.

However, given the increasing uncertainty in the market, we have taken a more cautious approach to capital deployment for the time being. We continue to maintain a pipeline of over $700 million of actionable investment opportunities and remain in active conversations with potential sellers, but until we see a "no-brainer", we are inclined to preserve the REIT's financial firepower. That said, we are simultaneously working to right-size our balance sheet to minimize the drag our current cash on hand is creating on shareholder returns, while maintaining financial flexibility. We expect to resolve this imminently.

Q3 2020 REIT PERFORMANCE

On September 30, 2020, the REIT distributed $1.50 per REIT Unit ($6.00 annualized distribution) payable to Unitholders of record on July 1, 2020. As of September 30, 2020, the FMV per REIT Unit decreased to $110.63 from $112.00 as of June 30, 2020.

Management believes the REIT's distributions to date, combined with the FMV per REIT Unit increase since inception, is an attractive result for Unitholders relative to (a) the underlying risk of the core property portfolio and (b) the public markets. Since inception, Unitholders have realized a 26% total return on their Units (assuming DRIP participation), despite the REIT holding substantial amounts of cash. Over the same period, the S&P/TSX Composite Index returned -1%, and the S&P/TSX Capped REIT Index returned -15% (June 29, 2018 to September 30, 2020).

Given the on-going valuation uncertainties caused by the pandemic, Management engaged Cushman & Wakefield to conduct a third-party appraisal of the REIT's portfolio. As part of this portfolio review process, Cushman & Wakefield applied a COVID-19 adjustment to account for the portfolio's current occupancy relative to its expected stabilized performance. This temporary adjustment accounts for the Q3 decline in the REIT's FMV per Unit.

Over the next quarter, Management intends to optimize its balance sheet by reducing a portion of its cash balance, thereby limiting the drag on shareholder returns. Once more efficiently capitalized, Management believes the REIT will be better positioned to grow its FMV per Unit consistently over the long-term.

The REIT's current portfolio consists of eight properties with 3,394 beds in five tier-1 university markets across Canada.

During the quarter, the REIT closed on the acquisition of 11024 82 Ave. ("1TEN on Whyte") in Edmonton, Alberta. The property was recently appraised by Cushman & Wakefield at a net valuation of $7.0 million – a 9% increase relative to the REIT's purchase price.

Management continues its capital raising efforts, while simultaneously evaluating various additional opportunities to increase its presence across Canada. Currently, the REIT has a $4 billion total acquisition pipeline, of which ~$700 million is immediately actionable.

UPDATE ON INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS RETURNING TO CANADA

The Government of Canada announced that, beginning on October 20, 2020, international students will be able to enter Canada as long as their Designated Learning Institution (“DLI”) has an approved COVID-19 readiness plan.

Management believes that the return of international students will increase occupancy at first-year targeted residences, including the Annex in Ottawa given that the University of Ottawa is an approved DLI. Furthermore, the return of international students will help drive demand for the REIT’s properties during the 2020-2021 lease-up cycle for the 2021-2022 academic school year.

2020-2021 Academic Year Leasing Results

(1) 2019 figures not inclusive of 1Ten on Whyte.

Since the onset of COVID-19, Management has been encouraged by the REIT's leasing velocity and students' desire to reside in university cities with their peers, regardless of the university's teaching approach (online, hybrid, in-person). The REIT's portfolio experienced very little "no shows" and a significant portion of residents are currently occupying their units, which bodes well for the REIT's on-going collection rate and next year's lease-up cycle.

Management did however notice more apprehension among incoming first-year students. Because this demographic is moving from home for the first time, they have been more reluctant to relocate to campus while online classes remain the overwhelmingly preferred teaching method. In response, the majority of universities adjusted their housing policies, requirements, and expectations for first-year students, which resulted in a fall term occupancy decline relative to the prior year. For example, the REIT's university-managed property in Ottawa, the Annex, which is a purpose-built rental with bed/bath parity that targets first-year students, had a ~45% decline in occupancy relative to the prior year. While this is a highly disappointing outcome, the number of inquiries and requests for on-campus beds for when in-person classes resume gives Management comfort that the Annex, and other new, purpose-built, rental properties will fare well in the very near future relative to traditional student housing alternatives.

ALIGNVEST

STUDENT HOUSING

Fundamentally, Management does not believe that COVID-19 will result in a systemic long-term impairment to the Canadian student housing market. Enrollment at most tier-1 universities continues to increase year-over-year, suggesting that demand for student beds continues to grow. Importantly, Management believes that demand for new, on and off-campus, purpose-built rentals will increase relative to dormitory-style residences and converted multi-tenant single-family homes in a world that is increasingly focused on hygiene and social distancing. This bodes well for the REIT's current portfolio.

Rent Collections

The REIT's rent collection remained strong during the quarter and in-line with internal benchmarks.

For the privately managed portfolio, July, August, and September's rent collections was 97%, 95% and 93%, respectively, and year to date, the REIT has collected 96% of its rent. Management expects August and September rent collections to catch-up to July over the following weeks.

Separately, the university managed asset collected 100% of its rent over the quarter.
